Disciplinary Action

Chapin Davis Asset Management discloses facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that it deems to be material to a client considering James Zogby to act as their Investment Advisor Representative. FINRA's Brokercheck® <http://www.brokercheck.finra.org> may have additional information regarding the disciplinary history of James Zogby that is not included in this brochure supplement.

In 2012, the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority found Global Transition Solutions, Inc., a broker/dealer controlled by Mr. Zogby, to have entered into an operating agreement with a non-registered entity by which Global Transition Solutions shared commissions and fees with non-registered entity. Although the non-registered entity was owned by registered persons, FINRA regulations do not permit this practice. Without admitting or denying the findings, Mr. Zogby ceased all payments to the non-registered entity and paid a fine of $10,000.

In 2003, The National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD) found Mr. Zogby to be in violation of rules relating to supervision of other individuals. As a result, the NASD fined Mr. Zogby and suspended him for 10 business days. Following the NASD action, the State of Illinois, Censured and fined Mr. Zogby, required him to re-take Series 24 principal examination, and required First Allied to place him under heightened supervision. First Allied discloses facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that it deems to be material to a client's consideration of Mr. Zogby to act as their investment adviser representative.

Other Business Activities
